Patriotic Horseshoer Brings Home-made Emblem of Good Luck.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

"ANTON, (O.,) Oct 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Callers were nuown in public life. They came om all sections, and brought uni-rmly good news, from the Presiint of view, on the political situation. Prominent among the number was Judge John W. Yerkes, Republican candidate for Governor Republican candidate for Governor of Kentucky. He would not say just what brought him here, but did say that it was in regard to Kentucky matters before the national administration. He spoke with emphasis and apparent confidence when he said that he would be elected Governor by a majority so large that even the Goebel election law machine could not overcome it, and that President McKinley would have an equally emphatic victory.

with him when he left, He had been in Cleveland on business, and it is said his visit here was purely social. He expressed full confidence in a decided Republican victory next Tuesday, and of a big McKin-ley plurality in New York. NOT FLESH, BUT GUM.

Dr. F. Markbreiter, a prominent German-American, who is to address a meeting here tonight in German, paid his respects to the President, and had a long talk with him. He has been all through the West, and says McKinley's victory will be overwhelming. He says the plurality in Illinois will be surprisingly large.

The most unique visit of the day was made by T. J. Thomas, a horseshoer of Springfield, O. He traveled two hundred miles just to present a horseshoe wrought by his own hand at his own forge, but plated with gold, to the President. He made a similar journey four years ago for a similar purpose. Speaking of that today, he said: "It bought him (the President) luck, and brought me luck, too. I have been busy ever since. I was delighted to hear from him today that he has my horseshoe henging in his private room of the White House." Stuff in the New York Ruins.

Secretary Doherty Declares the Criminal Liability Vitiates Insurance Policies.

With today's token an original poem was presented as well as an address of greeting. Among other things the letter said: "Again you are the hope of the people. Zealously and faithfully you have discharged the trust that was placed in you four years ago, and well may you be looked to again to stay a national calamity. Again, honorable sir, I come to present you with another talisman, another horseshoe, the emblem of luck. Under the principles which you represent, I have prospered, and every blow that it took to beat that unshapely iron into the form you now behold was a blow for national protection, national honor, national integrity, national morality and national standing among the great nations of the world." rant & Co.'s drug store, shows twenty-six unaccounted for. Of this number, four are not known at the addresses given by the persons reporting them as missing. Out of the whole number, eight are put days by the police as employes of Tarzant & Co.

Not a single body had, up to 10 o'clock tonight, been found in the ruins, though what looked like parts of bodies have been dug up. It begins to look as if whatever remains are still in the mass of débris which cumbers the place will be totally unrecognizable, even should the workingmen find them. This is because of the trememous heat caused by the explosion and the firs, and the rusing of material which, ruining together, form a mass of all sorts of stuff. For instance, what was supposed to be parts of bodies taken from the ruins last night turged out, on examination at the morgue, to be thackened pleces of melted gum arabic. Again, today, another mass which was found, and which the workmen first thought to be human fiesh, is now thought to be melted rubber. The searchers have found in the ruins of the Human fiesh, handler-staffer, edgar holder, etc., but whather

RETIRING FOR HIS HEALTH.

IBY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A M.1 NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says it is announced, seemingly with authority, that Lord Salisbury, acting on medical advice, has decided to lighten his labors by relinquishing the Foreign Secretary-ship. Lord Salisbury, hus had over eleven years in the Foreign Office, and though he has passed his seventieth birthday, if he had merely consulted his own natural desires, he would have continued to hold the two offices, which he has occupied with such unvarying success. As Prime Minister he will be able to exercise general control, mot only in foreign affairs, but in other departments of the public service.

Lord Lansdowne, who has been a favorite at the War Office, will be, according to the Telegraph, the new Foreign Secretary. He is a weak politician, but has been a spacessful victory, and is persona grata with the Premier. With Lord Lansdowne at the Foreign Office, Lord Salisbury will still be able to direct the foreign policy of England, whereas such might not be the case, if a strong man like Chamberlain had been appointed. It is not unlikely, however, that there would be a great cutery if Lord Lansdowne's appointment should be officially confirmed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The Department of State has not yet been advised of the reported abdication of Lord Salisbury of the portfolio of Minister for Foreign Affairs of Great Britain, as reported in last night's cable dispatches, the news comes as a surprise, because within the week the most positive assurance had been received here of the Premier's definite conclusion to retain this portfolio. The inference is that strong medical representations touching his heaith have influenced Lord Salisbury in adopting this course.

BUFFALO, Oct. El.—The train bearing the Republican Vice-Presidential candidate arrived in this city shortly after 4 o'clock, after making a stop at Black Rock. an industrial suburb of Buffalo, and the north-bound railway center of the city. The Governor was accorded a splendid reception at this place and addressed a few remarks to the laboring people.

From the time of his arrival until the time be retired there was one continuous ovation. The streets through which had to pass on his way from the station were crowded with people. It had been planned to have the Governor hold a reception this afternoon because of the early hour of his arrival, but he was so fatigued with the day's work that he compromised by addressing the assembled people as a whole, explaining that he was deeply touched by the magnificent reception which had been accorded him and that he desired to thank them for it. Being booked to make three speeches in the evening, he said, he would not make one at that time, but hoped to see them at one of the meetings.

Gov. Roosewelt spoke at three meet-

Another followed in a small hall, where the major part of the audience was composed of Italians, and the third and last in the immense convention hall, which was filled to the doors. In addition to touching upon the many subjects which he has exploited at other places, the Governor said:

Shifty Replies to Important Questions About Leading Topics.

NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) PRINCETON (N.J.,) Oct. 3L Francis J. Hall, president of the University Republican Club, has received a letter from William J. Bryan, dated New York, October 29, in which he answers the two questions sent him by the Republican club when he addressed the students at Princeton Junction last Thursday. After expressing his appreciation of the courtesy shown him by the Republicans at that meeting, he answered the questions:

To this he replied that he would enforce the law as he found it; that the Republican party has the Executive, House and Senate, and as there is one more session of Congress before a President is inaugurated, he had no way of knowing what law regarding this matter would be in effect by March & He also stated that his views on the money question could be found in his letters of accept-negroes in North Carolina by the Democrats of that State?" Mr. Bryan stated that this question was not an issue in 🕻 the campaign, and said:

"You should hold the President responsible for what he has done in Porto Rico, and not me responsible for what: has been done in North Carolina." He adds that there is but I do not believe any American is worth his sait unless he is a workingman. Work comes in many different way, and I knoner every form of honest work in others, and I claim in return the right to be treated as bet—as mu—of a workingman myself as any of my fellows. If a man does not work he cannot do anything for his fellows and he cannot do anything for himself.

"If there exists a class in the community, which, instead of regarding with envy, we ought to regard with that pity which is akin not to love but to contempt, it is the idle class is the gilded butterfly at the top or the tramp below, in either case the man who will not work, but sits down with the purpose of making his work the pursuit, of pleasure from effort, in either, not only is the man useless to his neighbors, but he is not even able to gratify his own mean ambition, for, mind you, a man who deliberately devotes his life to the pursuits of pleasure grets infinitely less of it than the man who tries to do his work and then finds that the "resteet possible pleasure comes in the sense of work well done.

"Do you believe in taxation without representation?" asked the man.

While the Governor was speaking a man in the audience said: "Governor, I would like to have you explain the trust question."

ago?"
"No, no," shouted the crowd. The Governor then discussed the trust question at length, referring to Bryan's remedy of taking the tariff off articles and by the trusts and the remedy of the Republican party to get at the evil

"I do not see anything wrong with that suggestion. Senator Hill suggested a baseball bat as being particularly appropriate to render justice to a corrupt election judge. In my opinion, the best way is for Democrats to be at the polls when they are opened, and to remain there in good strong relays until the count is completed. It should be the duty of these Democrats to watch the judges and the count, and to see to it that no fraud is committed, and if any fraud is attempted, to stop it, then and there.

"The Democratic party is opposed to violence, but at the same time I feel warranted in saying that the Democrats fully intend to reap the fruits of their victory. If intimida-tion is attempted at the polls and fraudulent counting tried by election judges, there will be Democrats in the vicinity ready to take just such action as may be necessary to stop it.

"There will be neither intimidation at the polls, ballotbox stuffing, nor fraudulent counting this year. If either is attempted, it will be stopped there and then. And if anyone gets hurt in this process of prevention, I hope it will not be the honest man who is doing his duty fairly and well. The Democrats have made an honest campaign. We have appealed to the heads and hearts of the American people. We have won the fight, and by Heaven we will not be defrauded out of our victory by the chicanery of election judges. If our Republican friends will be honest, there will be no trouble, but intimidation at the polls or attempted dishonesty in the counts will be met by such methods as may be necessary and entirely ef-ever it is, a standing danger to the country."

At Holly it was raining. Nevertheless, the Governor spoke to a great crowd. He said:

"We do not want to out in two the national honor by cutting in two the national honor by cutting in two the national debt. If Mr. Bryan's policies ever should be enacted into law they would bear with an especial weight of woe upon the very people concerning whom he affects to be most interested. "Mr. Bryan speaks of polygamy in the Sulu Islands and says it ought to be stopped. Why, his proposal is to establish a protectorate over those isingda, and therefore guarantee both slavery and polygamy in Sulu."

The train reached Albion in a pouring rain. A crowd, höwever, listened to the Governor with good attention. The Governor devoted most of his time to a discussion of prosperity.

BRYAN'S BAD PROPHECIES.

"Now, as to Bryan's prophecies," said the Governor. "Here is exactly what Mr. Bryan said in his Minneapolis speech: The gold standard means dearer money, cheaper property harder times, more people out "d work, more people destitute, more people desperate and more crime."

"Now, look around in your own city, in your own State, and compare with those prophecies their fulfillment.

"Mr. Bryan," continued the Governor, "says he is the champion of the poor. I think it is a mighty poor man of whom Bryan is champion, Mr. Bryan says trusts flourish more than they did four years ago. He is quite right. Everything flourishes more than four years ago. A good year for crops is a good year for weeds. Plow out the weeds, but don't plow under the crop. Here in this city your mechanics are all employed. Don't try to help the workmen by shutting up the factories."

The Governor for the first time during his New York State trip was beseiged with circulars asking why he had signed certain local legislation, particularly amendments to the Lockport charter, and if he had not refused to grant a hearing to the labor unions. The questions were not asked in the assembling place, but merely thrown in the streets in printed form. The Governor said he did not feel that he was compelled to answer these questions.

BRYAN'S LAST STAND IN OHIO.

Speaks at Cincinnati for First Time During Campaign-Off for Chicago.

CINCINNATI (O.,) Oct. SI.—William J. Bryan made the first speech tonight that he has made in this city during the present campaign. He arrived on a special train at 8 o'clock tonight. The day was spent entirely in this State, and the ittherary covered the country between this city and Toledo. Beginning with an hour's speech at Toledo at 10 o'clock this morning, Bryan spoke in succession at Wauseon, Napoleon, Ottawa, Lima, Wapakoenta, Sidney, Piqua, Troy, Dayton, Hamilton and College Corners.

With the exception of Toledo speech none of the others exceeded twenty-five minutes in length, and six of them were of only five minutes' duration each. A majority of the places where stops were made were small towns, and as a rule the crowds were not large. There were, however, fine audiences at Toledo, Wauseon, Piqua, Dayton and College Corners.

Bryan received a very cordial reception in Cincinnati. He was met at the station by an immense crowd, and, being driven to Music Hall under the escort of the Duckworth Club, he was there welcomed by thousands on the outside of the building, and by as many people on the inside of the great building as could be picked into it.

The crowd in the interior had been awaiting Bryan for three hours, and on account of the heat and the packed condition of the hall, arere was great impatience until Re entered the hall.

the states. There was a finiter of handterchiefs, and a general shout, but Bryan did not have great difficulty in securing comparative quiet after he belam.

The speech was largely a repetition of former arguments. Bryan will start early tomorrow morning for Indiana enroute for Chicago.

The schedude did not include a speech at Dayton, but a very pleasant incident occurred thers. When Bryan's special train rolled into the station about sunset there was a crowd of several thousand people assembled at that point. Bryan had been notified that there was a desire to present him with a silver horseshoe from the Harugari came to a full stop, and Bryan appeared on the platform, he was greeted by protonged and thumittous applause.

A committee of three ladies, representing the stront of the convoltant hox containing not only the horseshoe but a colored portrait of Bryan, a grold-mounted badgeand a letter explaining that in a contest in the society for the horseshoe, Bryan had received 1259 votes against tho cast for President McKiniey, Bryan responded briefly, saying:

"T desire the ladies who present this horseshoe to bear my sreetings to the members of the Harugari Society, and Bail will be provided for them. By this means it is hoped to prevent the wholesale arrests which have been planned for the day before the election.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.-[Exclusive Dispatch.] Angered by the certainty that the colored vote of this city is almost unanimous for McKinley and Roosevelt, the managers of the Bryan campaign have decided to intimidate the negroes of the West Side, where riots occurred several months ago. It has been learned that during the past few days warrants for a great many colored residents of that section have been obtained from a police magistrate in sympathy with Tammany. The police now hold these warrants, and the scheme is to serve them the night before election in order to frighten the colored voters from the

Two Masked Men Hold Up a Saloon.

Mysterious Murder in Arizona Fatal Leap of Fireman-Baptist Convention.

SACRAMENTO, October 31.—Two masked men entered the saloon of John Morrison, near the American River bridge, this evening, and while one of them covered the bartender, Miram Thomas, with a revolver the other opened the cash register and bock the contents, some $1.50. The robber then went into an inner room and cut the telephone wires with a knife, and then searched the person of the bartender, obtaining $2 more.

In the meantime, one of the farm hands of William Basier, who resides near by, came to the door, saw the robbers and ran to his employer's house and notified him of the robbers. The latter procured a revolver, went to the saloon, and as the robbers came out, fired three shous at them, none of which took effect. The robbers fied toward the city without returning his fire, and escaped. This makes the third time that this saloon has been robbed.

every laboring man has a full dinner pail. They went on the theory that every laboring man had a full dinner pail, but the anthracite coal strikers opened the eyes of a great many people to the fracture of that Republican argument, for down there in the anthracite coal region the strike showed that the men did not get half as much as they ought to and paid twice as much for powder as they should. I would be willing to let this campaign be based on the full-dinner-pail arrument, and I would ask the laboring man who votes yes or no on this proposition. Are you satisfied with the present conditions, and do you want them continued itset as they are? I would be perfectly willing to let the laboring men vote on that proposition, but before they vote I want them to go to the sweat shops and ask themselves whether that is prosperity and they want it continued just as it is. It is not true that the laboring men of this country are receiving their fair share of the wealth that they produce. That is one reason why the full-dinner-pail argument fails.

PROMISES ON TRUSTS.

PROMISES ON TRUSTS. PROMISES ON TRUSTS.

Bryan then took up the question of trusts, declaring that the utterances of both President McKinley and Gov. Roosevelt showed them to be more interested in protecting what they call the good trusts than in suppressing the bad trusts. He said that if times got hard the corporations would cut down wages rather than reduce their dividends. He would make it impossible for a private monopoly to live under the American flag, and if elected President all the power vested in the Executive would be used to that end. This sentiment was vigorously cheered, and there were cries of "Bravo."

Speaking of the standing army. Bryan declared that if the Republican ticket is elected there here will be a smaller standing national force than at present.

PLEA FOR THE PILIPINOS. PLEA FOR THE FILIPINOS.

He declared that the Republicans were not prepared to defend their foreign policy, and he gave the following as a résumé of all the Republican speeches on the Philippine question:

"We are sorry we have the Philippine Islands. They came to us by accident. We are sorry to have them, but we cannot let go of them. It looks as if God had sent us there; it looks as if God had sent us there; it looks as if we were following the leadings of a divine will, and besides there's money to the service of the service will, and besides there's money to the service of the service will be service the service will be service the service will be service the service of the service will be service the service the service will be service the service the service will be service the service will be service the service the service will be service the ser

That, he said, was the gist of all the Republican speeches on the subject. He declared that it was neither right nor wise to coerce the Filipinos, and he thanked God that he had so firmly linked together that which is wise and that which is right that they cannot be torn asunder. Asserting that the President was over-riding the powers conferred by the Constitution, Bryan said: "Our Constitution created the President and he shall not outgrow his creator."

BOUQUET FOR JONES.

In concluding his speech at Toledo, Bryan said: "In this city your own mayor had to choose between the Republican party and the Golden Rule, and he left the Republican party in order to stand by the Golden Rule. Monnette, who was your Attorney-General, who tried to fulfill his duty and carry out the laws and prosecute the trusts, was driven out of his party by the trusts that controlled the party and carry and the left the party and carried his convictions and the Republican party and he left the party and carried his convictions with him You Republicans have boasted that you loved Abraham Lincoin. If you love the principles of Lincoin compare them with the practices of Hanna and see what a change you have to make in your ideas to follow the Republican party now."

Just as Bryan began to speak and while Mayor Jones was, still on his feet, ten or twelve of the young men who had caused a disturbance, were taken in charge by the police and carried out of the grounds. They had brought to the meeting on a huge board, a representation of an elephant labeled "G. O. P.," which they were parading about the outskirts of the Democratic meeting with much glee and many hurahs. The mayor himself deprecated police interference.

NDIANA IS ALL RIGHT.

Senator Hanna Greeted by Big Crowds of Enthusiastic . Hoosiers.

GOSHEN, (Ind.,) Oct. 31.—Senator Hanna was greeted by a great outpouring of the people here 'oday, the crowd who heard his speech being estimated at 12,000. In the course of a thirty-minute apeech Benator Hanna said: "I hear on every side, 'What's the matter with Hanna?' [Cries of 'He's all right."] I want to know what's the matter with Hanna? [Cries of 'He's all right."] I want to know what's the matter with Indiana! [Cheers and cries of 'Indiana is all right."] "I almost think that this election will be unanimous; this great outpouring means much. Bryan has been preaching free silver, imperialism and antirusts and has dragged these issues into the campaign for the purpose of deceiving the people. There is nothing in this contest but let 'well enough alone. We have suffered enough, seen enough soup houses and we have earned the right to be prosperous. Do you propose to be led away by false issues in order to satisfy the ambition of one man? That expresses it fully; it is too long a story to be covered with arguments at this time. The other side has always been before the public, with every stibterfuge irang mable, in order that the people may be deceived. Bryan has lowered himself to the worst kind of demagoguery and has cried to the people to fo.low the steer, whose name is Bryan.

"No, my friends, this election is a test of the loyality, the patrictism and the intelligence of the American people. You do not want to vote for a man whose government would bring distress and sorrow to the people. Everything on our side appeals to all the sentiments of patriotism in America. It calls for a vote of confidence in your President, who has preserved the dignity of the country. Now that we have taken our place among the fighting nations, shall we turn our back to glory of our solders and sallors? Shall we shut our year and blindly follow that steer? God forbid. Let me warn you that should you be misled by false theories, your fate is sealed. Industries will shut down; trade decrease, and the laboring chass would be the BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.1

audience was largely composed of workingmen, and his argument was addressed to them, heing confined solely to the prosperity issue. The men whose example they should follow, he said, are the men who have successfully managed the country's great industrial establishments.

Hanna accused Bryan of utter hypocrisy and charged that, in the last days of the campaign, in desperation the Democratic candidate was attempting to raise class animosity and array workingmen against their employers. His arraignment of Bryan was severe, and followed his declaration that he had been the butt of Bryan's ridicule, sarcasm and vituperation for four years, and that now before Bryan's retirement to private life, he proposed to give him a few parting shots.

After his speech Senator Hanna was asked to express an opinion on Chairman Jones's interview dealing with Croker's advice to Democrats regarding their conduct on election day, but he refused to talk about the matter.

OVATION TO GAGE.

HUMBOLDT COUNTY TURNS OUT IBY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M. BUREKA, Oct. 31.—One continuous ovation, beginning at an early hour to-day and lasting far into the night, summarises the reception tendered to Gov. Gage by Humboldt county today. The steamer Antelope, carrying a large delegation, went down the bay and met the steamer Pomona and under convoy the Governor reached this city. The wharves were crowded with people to greet the Governor, and while bands played, the city officials and the chairman and secretary of the Republican County Central Committee and others gave the Governor the glad hand of welcome.

County Central Committee and others gave the Governor the glad hand of welcome.

Despite a heavy rain, special trains brought hundreds of people to the county seat to participate in the festivities of Governor's day. A formal reception was announced from 2 to 3 o'clock this afternoon, but enthusiastic admirers invaded the hotel and insisted on shaking hands with the Governor. At the afternoon reception the pariors of the hotel were thronged for two hours. The city schools closed for two hours. The city schools closed for the day, and a large number of children were among the attendants.

Occidental Pavilion was crowded with an andience of three thousand persons. Three bands, a glee club and a chorus of forty voices furnished music for the occasion. The hall was profusely decorated with flowers and transparencies. One hundred and one presidents, including a great many former old-line Democrats, were seated over one hour, and exhaustively reviewed the issues of the campaign.

Tomorrow morning the Governor will be taken over the Eel River road to Scotla, where the largest sawmill on the Cquat is located. He will take the steamer Pomons in the afternoon for San Francisco.

REWARD OF MERIT.

New Catarrh Cure Secures National Popularity in Less Then One Year. A New Catarrh Care Secures National Popularity in Less Them One Year.

Throughout a great nation of eighty million it is a desperate struggle to secure even a recognition for a new article, to say nothing of achieving popular favor, and yet within one year, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, the new catarrh cure, has met with such success that today it can be found in every drug store throughout the United States and Canada.

To be sure, a large amount of advertising was necessary in the first instance to bring the remedy to the attention of the public, but every one familiar with the subject knows that advertising alone never made any article permanently successful. It must have in addition absolute, undeniable merit, and this the new catarrh cure certainly possesses in a marked degree.

Physicians, who formerly depended upon inhalers, sprays and local washes or olintments, now use Stuart's Catarrh Tablets because, as one of the most prominent stated, these tablets contain in pleasant, convenient form all the really efficient catarrh remedies, such as red rominent stated, these tablets contain in pleasant, convenient form all the really efficient catarrh remedies, such as red gum. Guaacol, Eucalyptol and Sanguinaria.

They contain no cocaine nor opiate and are given to little children with entire safety and benefit.

Dr. J. J. Reitiger, of Covington, Ky., says: I suffered from catarrh in my head and throat every fall, with stoppage of the nose and irritation in the throat alfecting my voice and often extending to the stomach, causing catarrh of the stomach. I bought a fifty cent package of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at my druggist's, carried them inmy pocket and used them faithfully, and the way in which they cleared my head and throat was certainly remarkable. I had no catarrh last winter and spring, and consider myself entirely free from any catarrhai trouble.

Mrs. Jerome Ellison, of Wheeling, W. Va., writes: I suffered from catarrhai colds and sore throat so much they were out of school a large portion of the winter. My brother, who was cured of catarrh-Tablets, urged me to try them so much that I did so, and am truly thankful for what they have done for myself and my children. I always keep a box of the tablets in the house, and at the first appearance of a cold or sore throat we nip it in the bud, and catarrh is no longer a household affliction with us.

Full sized packages of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold for fifty cents at all drugwists.

United States Minister Hart Says Revolution is Disturbing Business.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.I NEW YORK, Oct. SI.—C. B. Hart, United States Minister to Colombia, South America, who has arrived here and is on his way to his home in Wheeling, W. Va., said in an inter-

"Matters in Colombia are serious! mixed. The Liberals started a second revolution a few days ago and it has developed great strength. The fight has been fierce and up to date the killed and wounded have numbered thirty thousand. "While the Liberals have met with

"While the Liberals have met with much success, it is believed that the government will be eventually successful. But the revolution is seriously disturbing business. Gen. Prospero Pinson is in command of the government forces, and the revolutionists are commanded by Gen. Rafael Uribe. The scene of the trouble is in the department of Cauca. "In the recent election San Clementi and Señor Marroquin were elected President and Vice-President, respectively. San Clementi because of the state of his health could not live in Bogota, and went to Villeta. In his absence Marroquin started a rebellion and assumed the Presidency, securing the recognition of all the foreign powers except the papal see. But both San Clementi and Marroquin are drawing their salries of $6,000 pesos per annum. This is payable in silver, but the currency of Colombia is so upset that it is difficult to place a value upon it. "The San Clementi party recently bought George Gould's yacht Atlanta and it has been equipped as a cruiser. It is too bad that there are internal dissensions in Colombia, because under a peaceful régime the country has remarkable opportunities for development. NEW TORK, Oct. 31.—The Executive Committee of the Southern Pacific Company was in session today, but it was said that only routine business was considered. The board of directors will meet on Friday to elest Charles M. Hays to the presidency.

On this 17th day of October, 1900, before me, Thos. W. Folsom, a notary public, personally came Dr. A. T. Sanden, to me personally known, and who, being duly sworn, declares that he will give to any sufferer of either sex his new Herculex Electric Belt on absolute free trial without one cent in advance or on deposit, and that he agrees to forfeit $5,000.00 if this offer is not lived up to in both let-DR. VI.-"CYMBELINE:" A STUDY OF

THE play is named after Cymbeline, a king of Britain at the period of the Roman conquest, in whose court and kingdom the chief scenes are laid. The action depends upon the intrigues of Cymbeline's queen to place herself and Cloten, a son by a former husband, upon the throne. The King is old and easily controlled by the woman, whose strength of character is greater than his own. At her instigathe King's daughter by a former wife and the helr to his throne, and encour-ages the suit of Cloten, which is re-jected by Imogen with scorn and fisult. The interest of the play now centers in misses Cloten and repulse Iachimo, but her trial is not yet passed. The villainy of Iachimo provides means of convincing Posthumus of his wife's in-fidelity, and her one defender becomes her most bitter assailant She is sum-had left their wilderness and now distinguish themselves in fighting for the King. Lucius, victor in the battle, receives the promise of tribute and establishes peace. The Queen, grieving for Cloten and conscious of the failure of her plots, takes poison. Imagen is revealed and is joined once more by Posthumus. Iachime, forced by a heavy conscience, repents of his evil and is forgiven by those he has wronged. The King, freed from the domination of a wicked Queen, with his sons and daughter restored to him, at peace with Roms, reascends his throne to rule henceforth in justice and concord. A war is necessary to prove the domination of Caesar and the justice of the tribute. Images and Posthumus must be united, lachimo punished, Pisanio justified. In the third act a new evidence of Cymbeline's injustice is revealed. Many years before Cymbeline had banished from his kingdom, without warrant of justice, a powerful noble, Belarius. In his flight to the wilderness this noble had carried with him the King's sonk, then mere children. Among the mountains of Wales they live the primitive life of hunters, proving by their simplicity, bravery and independence the superiority of a natural over an artificial culture. The wilderness is a refuge from a discordant society, but does not itself offer the best conditions for development. The boys are restless in their isolation and long for contact with the larger world. It is apparent that with a return of harmony to the kingdom the idylife society will dissolve from its own imperfections. The problem of reconciliation now involves the return of Belarius to his estate and of the boys to their father. But before their departure two important events occur. Imogen in her flight from the court finds refuge in their cave and is adopted, still in male draguise, into the primitive family. And Cloten, pursuing the princess with evil intent, enters the wood and is slain by Guiderius. The lidyllic state serves the function of mediation, both here and later, when Luclus comes within its bounds to find a page in Imogen, but it is not a permanent condition. With the death of Cloten at the beginning of the fourth act the movement toward reconciliation is started. The Queen, fretting at Cloten's absence, lies ill at the palace. The byttle, which occupies the fifth act, affords the means of reconciling all the warring factors. The hunters' world is at once absorbed when Belarius and the boys join the British forces in the battle. Poison, self-administered, destroys the Queen. Posthumus repents of his hasty action in requiring the murder of Imagen, and is then permitted to discover of Lucius is needed to explain the movement of the fifth act.

COMMENTS.

1. "Cymbeline" is classed among the tragedies, but in view of the absence of a genuine heroic character and from the fact of the general reconciliation at the end of the play, it is more properly termed a comedy. The suffering of the characters leads not to death, but to repentance and safety.

2. The play is highly composite and its threads of interest are many and intricate. The problem of the play was to unite elements so diverse as the Briton, the Roman and the Italian (a Frenchman, a Dutchman and a Spaniard also have piace,) to bring together an ancient historical event from Holinshed (the conflict between Cassar and Cymbeline) and a modern romantic incident from Boccaccio (the wager between Iachimo and Posthumus,) then to invent the story of the stolen princes and their flight to a wilderness (probably an adaptation from folklore,) and further to provide for unity through the mediation of a single character (Imagen.) It can hardly be said that Shakespeare was entirely successful in economizing his plot or justifying his characters. The lay has manifest incorpulties and too closely with the other scenes of the act to be explained as an interpolation.

4. The importance of Imogen in the play will be more clearly understood if a record is made of her conflicts and mediations. A father denies her the right of choice in the supreme personal incident of love. A stepmother antagonises her at every point and makes attempt upon her life. A clownish noble pursues her with sensual intention. An Italian, skillful in love intrigues, tempts her virtue. A husband comes to doubt and curse her and to demand her life in revenge. She is not certain of the good faith of Pisanio. She is forced to live in disguise with strangers and to become a servant of an alien soldier. Through all these conflicts she maintains her integrity and thus becomes the central figure of the spiritual system of the play. From her as a center proceed the lines of repentance and restoration to all the members of the kingdom. It is true that the play comprehends more than her sinkle heroisms and mediations, nevertheless she is practically the sum of its contradictions and the single agent of resolution.

5. Pisanio, as a mediatorial agent, is second only to Imogen. It is not given to him to have a fate—fates in Shakespeare are reserved for the noble born—but he is in reality the only perfect character in the nlay, always sure in his fudgments and tust in his actions. When perspected he anneals to the "heavens," and his faith is never rendered vain. As a servant he comes into the service of all the main characters of the play and mediates among them. Yet in the Shakespeare are to discover the value of Pisanio.

ON THE POLITICAL FIRING LINE

The "paramount issue" today is et out the McKinley vote on ne weeday. See you do your duty.

It is not "imperialism" that worries ir. Bryan so much as lack of an op-ortunity to exercise imperialism.

The solid part of Democracy, the good that was in it, has resolved itself nto an effervescence of Bryanism.

"I would seem to hold public of-fice," says Debs, candidate for Presi-dent on the Social Democratic ticket. It is home and horse. The people would certainly scorn to elect Debs to any office.

It may be sorded for a man to be al-ways thinking of his full stomach. But find the Bryanite who can forget the empty one he groaned with when the Wilson free-trade act had the factories all shut down.

Take the record of McKin out of American history and it would leave a large vold. Take the record of Bryan's life out of the history and the only impression made would be that the wind had gone down.

The men who draped Bryan's picture with the Filipino flag on the occasion of the dinner given to Bryan at the Hoffman House. New York, can at least be accredited with an appreciation of the fitness of things.

Mr. Bryan urges us to "come back" to the days of Washington and Jeffer-son. How like thirty cents would Mr. Bryan look facing Washington: What would he say to Lincoin, who gave the white man's privilege of franchise to the colored man?

Just one spark of Democracy has been discovered in Bryan. He favors overthrewing civil-service reform, thus proving that with Jackson he thinks "to the victors belong the spoils." The American people will not agree with this Tammany ally.

Stability is the one great essential in financial matters. Mr. Bryan's persistent efforts to get at our money system reminds one of a small boy trying to fix his watch with a monkey wrench. The effect on one would be about as disastrous as on the other.

the defeat as decisive as we can.

A few years ago one of the favorite jokes of the Democratic free traders was in poking fun at President McKinley on account of the duty which had been imposed on tin plate. They loudly maintained that it was absurd to suppose that a tin-plate industry could be built up in the United States, declaring that this was merely done to favor a few manufacturers. Yet the result of the imposition of this duty has been the creation of a tin-plate industry which produced nearly 800,000,000 pounds in 1890, and distributed $20,000,000 among American workingmen.

This army, of which this fragme om your State formed a part remains Luson, waiting, first for the treaty of peace which was being negotiated in Paris, then for its ratification by the Senate of the United States, then until the exchange of ratifications between the United States and Spain-waiting through all that long period, accepting the insolence of the insurgents with a American soldiers, who we under the orders of the Executive that they must not strike a blow, pending the treaty body of insurgents whom we had just mancipated from oppres turn upon the flag that had sheltered them against Spain .- [From the speech of William McKinley at Fargo, N. D., October 13, 1899.

It is every man's duty to himself, to his family, if he have one, and to generations to come, to devote the few days that remain before the election to carnest, energetic effort to make the defeat of Bryanism so overwhelming that this country will never again be brought face to face with the pertious policies which are now attempting to drag it downward and backward.

Four years ago, in Central Music Hall, Chicago, Carl Schurs likened Mr. Bryan to Satan tempting the Savior. Now he is worshiping him as the only political savior for the country. And yet Bryan avowedly stands for the same principles for which he stood four years ago, and has allied himself more thoroughly with Croker, Tammany Hall and all that is disreputable in politics.

The Bryanite toughs and hoodlums who attack Republicans with clubs, stones and brickbats, might as well yote the Republican ticket, each and every one of them; for every such attack makes votes for the Republican candidates. The American people, as a whole, believe in fair play and free speech, and are ready to resent interference with either. If Mr. Bryan were wise, he would call off his hoodlums.

Gov. Roosevelt, in his-talk to the Gov. Roosevelt, in his-talk to the students of Cornell University, gave a sharp, but deserved rebuke to the class whom he aptly designated as "the timid good, the people who are mighty good in their own pariors, but don't come out to do a man's work in the world." The man who is too nice to take part in politics when his country is to not?

In 1890 the exports of manufactured articles from the United States amounted to $151,000,000. In the fiscal year just ended the exports were valued at $432,000,000. We formerly compared our manufacturing business with Great Britain; now we make comparison with Great Britain and France, or Great Britain and Germany. Before long we

Mr. Bryan begs to be elected, professing that he will be able to change our money system and turn the Philip-pines into a region of peaceful dreams and sucking doves. How does he know he can do all these things? Has he ever tried? He is the wily fox standttempt to rectify the mistake.

It may seem to be a great vote-getting scheme to denounce the war in the Phillippines and brand the soldiers there as murderers; but it should not be forgotten that these soldiers have left here behind them fathers, mothers brothers, sisters, sweethearts, friends and admirers. There are 60,000 of the boys in the Orient, and five times that many relatives and ten times that many friends left behind. They are not saying much until November 6. not saying much until when they will be heard.

A special dispatch from Washington to The Times brings the information A special dispatch from Washington to The Times brings the information that Capt. Meyler, in his annual report, estimates that during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, the sum of $150,000 can be profitably expended on the San Pedro Harbor; this sum being in addition to the unexpended balance of $562,607 which remained on the first day of July of the present year. If the appropriation of $150,000 be granted by Congress, there will probably be plenty of money on hand for carrying on work under the new contract for the next year and a half, at least.

The key-note of the Bryan campaign is discontent. Even in speaking to the farmers of the Middle West he insidfarmers of the Middle West he Insidiously strives to plant the germ of discontent by suggesting that McKinley is responsible for the terrible condition of things which prevents the farmers of that section from going to the seashore. Not one farmer out of ten thousand wants to go to the seashore; he has other interests nearer home. He wouldn't go if he had the chance. Mr.
Bryan knows this, but it does not dewouldn't go if he had the chance, ar. Bryan knows this, but it does not deter him from trying to stir up in the farmer's breast a spirit of discontent. Of course it may result in embittering some farmer's life; but what does Mr. Bryan care? He wants votes. THE TRUTH ABOUT TRUSTS.
One of the strong 'holts' of the Bryan shouters is the trusts, for which the Republican party is held especially responsible, the doctrine being loudly proclaimed and insisted upon that the rusts are the outgrowth of the Republican protective tariff system-in other words, that "the tariff is the other words, that "the tarin' is the mother of trusts."

The absolute faisity of this assertion may easily be ascertained by any truth-seeking person, by means of a brief investigation of the commercial conditions which prevail in Great Britain and other European countries, where there is little or no tarin' to be paid on imports.

paid on imports.

The fact is, as The Times has frequently pointed out, that trusts are purely an economical product of modern commercial conditions, which involve close competition and a continual struggle for the survival of the timual struggle for the survival of the fittest among producers who are competing for public patronage. It would be just as reasonable to charge the Republican party with responsibility for the existence of the big department stores as it is to make them responsible for the trusts.

The tendency to combine among producers is even stronger in other countries than in the United States, and is especially astable in free-trade Great Britain. This is admitted even by the free-trade organs of the United States, but in desing so they attempt to cover their tracks by making the absurd claim that free trade prevents the abuse of such monopolies. In the Contemporary Review last year was an article by M. W. Macrosty, on the "Grewth of Monopoly in England," in which he showed that in British industry there is a steady movement

"Grewth of Monopoly in England." in which he showed that in British industry there is a steady movement toward combination and menopoly—a movement which he says is "the natural outcome of competition and thereforce-incapable of being prevented or undone by law." Going into details in regard to the commercial cenditions prevailing in Great Britain, Mr. Macrosty said!

"Single amalgamations control the sorew, cotton, thread, said, alkali and India rubber tire industries. In other cases a formal agreement of masters fixed prices. Thus in the hollow-ware trade prices are arranged by a dezen Birmingham firms. Einniarly there is no open market in antiment, nickel, mercury, lead pipes, fish supply and petroleum. Steel and iron bars are controlled by an English rail ring.

All the largest firms in the newspaper industry have fust consolidated their interests in one large combination. In the engineering trades twenty-four firms have a subscribed capital of £14,345,000.

The most note.

If protection is the "mother of the state of the state."

If protection is the "mother of trusts," then it seems as if free trade must be a sert of a father-in-law to these much-abused institutions. It is not only in England that trusts are these much-abused institutions. It is not only in England that trusts are rapidly increasing. A commercial attaché of the British legation at Berlin recently reported that there had been a remarkable extension in Germany of the principal of association or cooperation among the commercial classes in every kind of mercantile enterprise. At the same time the present German tariff is very moderate, so that this condition of affairs cannot justly be charged to the tariff.

In brief, we repeat emphatically that the trusts are distinctively an economic question, and must be so treated, if anything of practical value is to be accomplished along this line. Mr. Bryan could doubtless succeed in destroying the trusts, in case of his election, in just about the same manner that the late Mr. Samson made it interesting for the Phillistines at their banquet. It will be remembered, however, that this ancient attempt to break up a monopoly proved quite disastrous to the chief actor, as well as to many other innocent people.

Any fair-minded man who is acquainted with Mr. Silver—even though he may differ from him politically—must admit that an accusation of "arrogance" is about as absurd an nfounded as any that could possible be brought against the Republ didate for Mayor. Mr. Sliver is a gen tleman of the old school, who never fails to treat with courtesy all who ap falls to treat with courtesy all who approach him—rich and poor, prominent citizens and humble workingmen alike. It is true that his idea of what is right and proper will not permit him to put in six days of the week canvasing for votes in the saloons, and one day in the churches, but he may be safely counted upon to use every legitimate effort for the Republican ticket which he heads in the coming municipal campaign. It may be added that Mr. Bliver will receive many votes from citizens who do not share his political views, but who believe that in municipal politics the best man should be chosen, irrespective of party lines. Mr. Sliver is far and away the best man for Mayor now before the people, one of the very best, in fact, that could have been chosen.

Every boy and every girl in the United States can have an education without money and without price. They can ave an education that equips them for you, young people, while you have an opportunity, draw deeply from the fountain of learning, for when you get older there is less time for the pur-suit of knowledge in our busy, rushing life. Fill your minds with useful knowledge; and I see you are filling your hearts brimful of patriotism as you hold the flag of your country in your hands.—[From the speech of William McKinley at Duluth, Minn., October 13,

So far The Times has had little or nothing to say, editorially, in regard to the political situation in our neighboring Territory, Arisons, Frankly stated, this reticence has not been due to lack of interest in the affairs of a section in which hos âmpètes is deeply interested, but rather to a conviction that the political problem in the "sem-kissed land" is so complicated that even the traditional Philadelphis law-yer would find it no easy job te unravel the kinks. Meantime, the complete and thoroughly impartial Arisona correspondence of The Times has kept the reading public fully en rapport with passing events.

As shown in these news columns, the Arizona Democracy in the present campuign has been split as widely asunder as the successent watermation when attacked by the knife of the yearning persons of color. One Smith—with the surname of Mark—who has served the Territory (and his own personal ends) in Congress for lo! these many years, and who appears to be imbued with the peculiar idea that he is a sort of perpetual Congressional Delegate by Divine right, was opposed in his ambition by one Wilson, who succeeded in obtaining a considerable amount of bucking. The convention resulted in a decided split between the two aspirants, and that nobody was killed was a mercy. Then there was war to the knife—for a brief period—but since then, as the Arisona correspondent of The Times has told, the two Democratic Arisona sluggers have apparently kiesed and made up on some private arrangement for a division of the problematical spoils.

On the Republican side of the context the candidate is N. O. Murphy, at present Governor of the Territory. Mr. Murphy's views in regard to State as opposed to national irrigation have long been opposed by The Times, and are still so opposed, in a most decided manner. Seeing, however, that his views on this subject are to a large extent his own personal views, and are not apparently shared by Arisonans beyond his own small official family, and seeing further that in other respects he is a

The Japanese Minister at London, Kato Takaski, informs the Associated Press that he has delivered a note to Lord Salisbury, in which Japan un-Lord Salisbury, in which Japan unconditionally assents to the AngloGerman agreement in regard to China.

A Washington special to the New York Herald unconditionally denies the statement recently made, that the ministers in Peking have decided to demand $200,000,000 indemnity. This matter, it is stated, has not yet been considered. The Herald's dispatch says, further that the ministers and the Chinese en-voys are endeavoring to come to an agreement as to the punishment to be meted out to the Boxer leaders. Minister Conger, it is stated, is especially desirous that Prince Tuon shall be executed. But a high official of the Washington government is quoted as saying that the President will be satisfied with the degradation and exile of Tuan. Cermany, however, wants him beheaded.

"No very vigorous steps." It is further stated in the above-named dispatch, "have yet been taken to estimate the indemnity. China should pay the United States. The War Department is preparing to collect information as to the cost of the expedition to China; representatives of the religious China; representatives of the remainded denominations where missionaries were killed and injured and missions were destroyed, are conferring with Messra. Conger and Rockhill, and private citisens whose property was destroyed have submitted claims to the State De-partment, but they have all been noti-fied that such action is premature."

Why didn't these anti-imperialists cry against it when the administration was actually at work in Cuba and Porto Rico? Because they knew the administration was right; and they now desire to make political capital by denouncing what they know to be a good thing and something which they are benefited by along with the rest of American citizens, it is a cheap kind of politics, Very, very cheap.

A patriot makes a better citizen than a possimist.—[William McKinley, excellent production of "Quo Vadis," which began a four-nights' engagement at the Los Angeles Thester last evening, deserves a more liberal patronage than it, seceived on the opening night; When "The King of the Opium Ring," a rank and raw melodrama, was presented at the same house, recently, people were turned away on the first night, and the house was packed at each subsequent performance. The atrical managers can hardly be blamed for feeding their patrons upon the husks of melodrama and coarse farce, if the public prefer and are willing to pay for that sort of theatric pabulum, while legitimuts and wholesome art is accorded only indifferent appreciation. Theatrical managers are only human. They are not in the business for their health, exclusively, and will provide the sort of amusement which the public, demand and are willing to pay for. The dramatization of Stentlewicz's pobular novel which is now current at the Los Angeles Theater is by Stantishus Stange. It follows the original quite closely—sufficiently so to preserve the interest of the story in a marked degree, and to bring out the more striking incidents with strong dramatic effect in the various chimaxes. The piece is beautifully staged, each of the several acts being well and ediquately provided with scenic and other heedful accessories, the pitson scens in the last act; being especially striking. With some minor exceptions, the speaking parts are well suntained. Mason Mitchell carries the leading role, that of Petronius, with rare grace and effectiveness. Mr. Mitchell firs a superb stage presence—a handsome face and a commanding figure. This physical equipment is supplemented by keen dramatic husight, a resonant and well-modulated voice, and a fine, artistic perception of the role of Fetronius.

The role of Vinicius is portrayed by Marchs Ford with conscientiousness and force. Mr. Ford's voice has great reaching power, and his elecution is excellent, with the exception that in some of the more earnest passages he has failed into the not becommon h

From the records of the War De-triment the following facts as to emocratic action to increase the army ter the war with Spain was over are

Democratic action to increase the army after the war with Spain was over are gleaned:

Col. Bryan has asserted over and over again that the President and the Republican Congress increased the army to 100,000 men "when no arm was raised against the nation anywhere in the world," and by his talk of "a large standing army" and the "dangers of militarism" he neeks to make the people believe that the increase is a permanent one due exclusively to the Republican party. The record shows these facts:

The act which increased the army at the beginning of the war with Spain provided that the army should be restored to its former size (27,000) at the termination of that war. As a consequence whatever additional force was necessary by reason of conditions resulting from that war, had to be provided by a subsequent act. Admiral Dewey destroyed the Spanish fleet in front of Manila, May 1, 1898; Aguinaldo arrived at Manila on May 18; on May 3h he issued a proclamation announcing the establishment of a dictatorial government, and on July 1 proclaimed himself President. On July 25, Gen. Merritt took command of the American forces which had arrived during that month and on July 35 Admiral Desvey telegraphed the President: "Situation most critical at Manila.

Merritt's most difficult problem will be how to deal with insurgents under Aguinaldo, who have become aggressive and even threatening toward our army."

On August 13 the American troops

Aguinaldo, who have become aggressive and even threatening toward our army."

On August 13 the American troops attacked Manlia, but Aguinaldo's forces failed to cooperate, except to demand after the action had ended that the churches, the Palace of Malcanon, part of the money taken from the Spaniards and the arms of the Spaniards and the Branch of the Spaniards and the Branch of the Spaniards and the Americans and insurgents grew worse and worse day by day, and all manner of abuses were indulged in by the insurgent troops."

Meantime the Flippino Congress was assembled at Malolos, and Aguinaldo removed to that place. Organizations intended to provoke bitterness toward the Americans and from which local militia could be recruited to add in the attack upon them were established in Manila and its vicinity, and on September 21, 1898, a decree passed the Flippino Congress imposing militare by the struck of the properties on every male over 18 years of age, while in every carriage factory and blacksmith shop implements of war were being manufactured for use in hostilities.

These facts were known to the President of the man and the properties of the properties of These facts were known to the President, and he found it necessary when he sent his message to Congress on December 5, 1898, to ask a temporary increase in the army, which he did, saying: "There can be no question that at this time and probably for some time in the future 100,000 men will be none too many to meet the necessities of the situation." As a result of this recommendation a bill was passed in the House on January 21, 1899, authorizing the enlargement of the army to 100,000 men. This was referred to the Senate committee which included, such members as Senators Cockrell of Missouri, Mitchell of Wisconsin, Pettus of Alabama and Pasco of Florida, and on February 24 that committee unanimously reported a substitute bill authorizing the President partianship to my patriotism. We should all be patriots today; we must not forget, we must not forske our brave, heroic soldiers and sallors who are upholding and defending our flag in the Orient. We must stand by them.

. . The bill is only a temporative in 1901. The increase is only temporary; there is nothing permanent about it. It simply meets the present emergency.

. This bill can do no harm. It becomes a nullity and repeals itself on the first day of July, 1901. I hope the members of the House will realize how important it is to pass this bill. Its taillure now would be a calamity-an affront to every man in the Philippines. . . . I cannot see how a Republican or a Democrat can cinsistently yvote agains: it. It gives the President all the men he wants to meet the present emergency and at the same ime it does not increase the standing army a single man. After July 1, 1901, by virtue of this bill the regular army will be just the same as it was before the war was declared with Spain. By that time let us hope the country will be at peace with all the world and the insurrection in the Philippines a thing of the past. This is no time to split hairs or play small politics; we should do our duty; we should do what is right and the people will judge us accordingly.

TIRE BOARD ON

Commission Gets Up Steam on the Subject of Repairs to Engines.

At the meeting of the Fire Board yesterday morning, there was some little discussion about the feasibility of repairing fire-engine boilers in local machine shops. Commissioner Kuhrts contended that the engines needing repairs would have to be sent to San Francisco in order to have the work properly done, and Commissioner Williams stated his belief that the shops in the city ought to be able to do the work. It was finally decided to postpone, action with reference to the boiler of engine No. 7 for one week in order to give Mr. Williams time to investigate. The matter was brought to the attention of the board by the Chief, who reported that he had received a telegram from the American Fire Engine Company at Seneca Falls, N. Y., offering to furnish a Fox boiler complete for $56; also a proposition from the agent of the company in San Francisco to take the engine to the Bay City, install the boiler and overhaul the engine for 1800, the company to pay the freight both ways.

Then the fun began. Mr. Kuhrts maintained that there was no machine for 1800, the company to pay the freight both ways.

shop in Los Angeles that could properly piace the boiler in the engine and that the proposition to send the engine to San Francisco was the only one the Fire Department could take up. He alluded to the experience of the department about five years ago when $3500 was expended in repairing fire engines here with the result that they were ruined. He said that, in company with the Chief, he had visited a number of machine shops in the city and they had all retured to have anything to do with repairing the engine. Mr. Kuhrts grew quite animated and eloquent in his address to the board on the inadvisability of attempting to on the inadvisability of attempting to repair fire engines in the machine shops of the city.

Mr. Williams picked up the gauntlet heaved into the ring by Mr. Kuhrts, and replied with a spirited defense of the local shops. He said it seemed to him that the work of repairing the boiler could be more cheaply done by procuring the boiler for $56 and having it installed here. He insisted that the local shops ought to be able to do the work satisfactorily and he would not believe they could not until an swestigation had been made.

Mr. Kuhrts, whose discussion of boilers had in the meantime about reached the boiling point, then proceeded to uncork a little more oratory on the subject. He argued that it was a certain waste of money to try and fix fire engines in shops that were not equipped for the purpose.

Mr. Williams asked the board to allowed the board of election? Can library on the light of the board of election? Can library on the light of the light of the light of the light of the ligh

GETS HIS SOAP FACTORY.

The reward of persistence will probably fall to Swen Britz, the applicant for permission to erect a soap factory.

Mr. Britz has shown a remarkable determination to secure a site for his factory to manufacture perfumed soap. He has been before the Fire Board, in season and out of season, in an endeavor to obtain a permit. His first attempt was on South Anderson street, but the residents of that vicinity had a decided objection to perfumed-soap factories. Britz finally gave up in despair. Last week he appeared bright and smiling with a petition for a permit at a new location, and the Chief was instructed to investigate.

The Chief's report presented yesterday showed the judicious discrimination of Mr. Britz. The location selected this time is at No. 535 Macy street, and the lot is bounded on one side by the packing-house of the Cudahy company and on the other by a Chinese laundry. Entrenched in this strategic position, Mr. Britz has great hope for the future of the soap factory. The commission stamped its approval on the application and Mr. Britz would have gone away happy, but Clerk Trowbridge called attention to the requirement that the property-owners must be notified. The board therefore let the matter go over for one week, but if its very probable that Mr. Britz but its very probable that Mr. B

CHOCK-A-BLOCK.

LIBRARY OVERFLOWING. floor of the City Hall are full to over-flowing. They are fairly chock-a-block with books and magazines and reference works. The weight of the books is considerable, and is telling on the floors of the building. Only one of the rooms was originally designed for the library, but the department outgrew that in its infancy. It has been looking upward—filling the garret and attic of the hall with books infrequently used—and now the library must look downward to the cellar for a place to store some of the books.

The library has a very complete file of the Congressional Records considering its rapid growth. There are about basement.

Neither the librarian nor the patrons of the library have given up hope that a new library building may be procured in some way. As the condition of the city finances and the limitation on the bonded indebtedness will not permit the municipality to make the much-needed improvement, it is hoped that some man of ample means will prove public-spirited enough to present a library building to the city. It is believed that if some one would provide the funds for the building, the site could easily be purchased from popular subscriptions. Andrew Carnegie has made a name for himself by his benefocance in this direction, and it is hoped at the City Hall that some rich man will be moved by his example to furnish better and more commodious quarters for the progressive and growing library department.

District Attorney Opines as to Who Should Not Act on Election Boards.

These are the days when the District Aftorney's office is flooded with letters and inquiries as to the eligibility of election officials to serve who may perchance be some sort of a functionary or deputy in the complex county and municipal machineries.

To clear up the public mind in the matter an opinion has been prepared by District Attorney Rives, which in brief holds that all public officials and dep-or he is to be separated from her on oross-complaint charging marital infidelity, will all be determined by noon today.

Most of the testimony yesterday was in proof and rebutial of defendant's cross-complaint. The details of it need not be published. The witnesses called for the defendant were Dr. H. B. B. Montgomery, Mrs. Cora Johnson, Arthur Parsons, Mrs. George Livingstone, L. R. Harris, W. L. Richards and A. L. Wilson, after which cross-complainant rested his case. The last three witnesses were the police officers who rushed upon the scene of the disturbance at No. 1004 South Main street on the night of September 23, when Savage surprised his wife and a pistol was discharged. The testimony yesterday tended to show that the gun had gone off accidentally by falling from young Savage's pockets when his young wife was called to the door.

In rebuttal Mrs. Savage again took the stand and dended all her husband's accusations, and was followed by Eugene S. Gannon. He denied that he had ever been intimite with or made any improper advances toward Mrs. Savage, and asserted that he was engaged to be married to Mrs. Helen Schappel, the woman who lived with Mrs. Savage after her husband left her on August 12.

Gannon admitted that both himself and Mrs. Schappel were undivorced from former matrimonial connections, but stated that their marriage had been postponed on account of Mrs. Schappel's health. Gannon testified that he was married in this city in June, 1896, and tiffat his present wife is now in New York State, unwilking to return to him. He and Mrs. Schappel became engaged in Jamuny of this year. He is a railway mail clerk.

ELECTION BOARD.

John E. Watson, a voter at the Sol-diers' Home, who has written the Dis-trict Attorney relative to the appointment of an election board there in the absence of taxpayers, has been forwarded the following reply:

"An examination of the proclamation issued by the Board of Supervisors discloses the fact that no appointment has been made of any officers except ballot clerks, who are not required to be taxpayers. The rule in such cases is laid down in section 1146 of the Political Code, and we think is clear, requiring no explanation from us. This section says: If the Board of Supervisors falls to appoint the board of election, or the members appointed do not attend at the opening of the polls on the morning of election, the clectors of the preclact present at that hour may appoint the board or supply the place of an absent member thereof."

James Ambrose got mixed up with a marine on shore liberty Tuesday night. The marine decorated his face until it looked like a war map, and Justice Morgan fined him #3 yesterday as a finishing touch to his tale of woe.

Pat Marston spurned the good advice of a policeman, and now has to pay the penalty. Pat was drunk on the streets, and an officer politely offered to steer him home. Pat declined. Later the policeman renewed the offer, and Pat "cussed" the policeman with a great sweep of eloquence. "Four dollars or four days."

Edward Carr, the black sheep of one of the old families in Pasadena, sat in the criminal dock of Justice Morgan's court between a Chinaman and a hobo yesterday, and pleaded guilty as a common drunk. He was fined #5, which he will work out on the chain gang. He was found last night trying to hold up a post on First street. He came before the court dressed like a tramp, and with a great bruise on his face where he had fallen in his drunken sprea.

Young Men for Judge York.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31, 1900.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A rumor has been recently circulated, to the effect that the younger members of the Los Angeles bar do not favor the reëlection of Judge York. Why such a report should be started, it is difficult to conceive, for, besides the manifold reasons which appeal to their elder brothers, the younger members of the Los Angeles bar have special reasons for desiring to see so able, courtesus and dignified a judge continued in office for another long term. Judge York is fond of young men. He has not forgotten his own early manhood and tribulations and discours gements, that every lawyer must experience in beginning his practice. He has not forgotten that a kind word, a look of sympathy, or any exhibition of friendly interest are highly prized and long cherished memories by the young men who receive such encouragement. of friendly interest are highly prized and long cherished memories by the young men who receive such encouragement. And remembering these things, and because his soul is filled with human kindness, he is courteous to every one, but particularly kind, sympathetic and encouraging toward the young lawyers who practice in his court. Is it strange that young lawyers like Judge York? It would, indeed, be strange if they did not support him. But they are supporting him vigorously and with enthusiasm. The rumor above referred to is unfounded. RUSS AVERY, is still in the neighborhood of $1.23 a

John Burns has decided to begin a new well on the corner of Edgewars Road and Court street. An attempt was made to deepen an old well on the property, but the hole was found so crooked that it was thought best to abandon it and begin anew.

Clark and Sherman are down 380 feet in their second well south of the Sisters' Hospital, and are gratified with the showing so far. The first attempt proved a failure, on account of water, and experts say that no better results will be obtained from the second attempt, as the hole is being drilled too far north.

L. G. Parker has vacated a well near the corner of Temple street and Boylston avenue. It is reported that water drove the operators to cover.

A new well has been finished by G. W. Robinson at the corner of Edgeware Road and Court street. This is No. 23.

I. W. Shirley is putting in a well at the corner of Colton and Ohio streets. At the head of Omaha street and Just north of Court street W. P. Book has abandoned the well started some time ago. The principal orator of the evening was C. R. Soberanes of San Lais Obispo, who delivered an extended and eloquent speech in Spanish, a large part of his remarks being devoted to a plea for the Spanish-Americans to vote for Senor William Graves, who was of their own blood and a grand caballero. Mr. Soberanes also urged his hearers to vote for William J. Bryan and the rest of the Democratic nominees, national, district and county. The speaker was quite liberally applauded.

VALENZUELA'S FLOP. vert to Democracy. He acknowledged that he felt impelled to leave the Republican party in the present campaign, and predicted that Bryan would be elected by a tremendous majority for the reason, presumably, that the vote and voice of Valenzuela would turn the scale. At least he didn't give any other reason for the big slump which he predicted in the McKinley vote. Valenzuela has never been classed with the political heavyweights, at the expected result of his flop is all the more remarkable. "On the morning after the election," Valenzuela proclaimed, "even the voices of little children will be heard crying, "The country is saved." If a briber comes to you on election day," he said, in conclusion, "take his money, put it in your pocket, then go and vote for Bryan and the rest of the Democratic candidates."

The last speaker of the evening was introduced as the "next city attorney," E. L. Hutchison ("E! Hutch.") He was greeted with applause by his Eighth Ward compatriots, whom he proceeded to instruct how to mark their ballots on election day. He told them to be sure to put the crosses only after Democratic names, and to be doubly sure to vote for Trask and Munday only, for Superior Judges.

SOCIALIST AFTERCLAP.

After E! Hutch had concluded his harangue, the speakers dispersed to other meetings, whither some had iready gone. But before the rrowd got away, one Biddle, who declared himself to be a wage slave employed in the Baker Iron Works, mounted a chair and begred all the tollers to remain and hear him speak. W: B. That the beer was rent and that the club was informed that it was from him, and that the members returned it untapped, there is no doubt, but Mr. Raymund declares that he knew absolutely nothing of its being sent, and the first intimation he had of the matter was when he read the published account of the incident. He says it is possible that some friend of his in a mistaken effort to benefit him may have sent the beer, but he does not know who sent it or to whom it was returned. He also thinks it probable that an enemy may have sent it in his name to do him harm. The question how is, who got the beer?

He thanks the party for having nominated him and respectfully but firmly withdraws.

The Democratic City Central Committee will meet today and it is possible that an effort will be made to fill the city ticket, on which there are several vacancies. Certificates of nomination must be filed with the City Clerk at least thirty days before election and next Saturday is the last day on which this can be done.

He came up to the colonel eagerly, with his hand creeping around to his back pocket, and begged that he be allowed to go out and "do that fellow up." To this Roosevelt would not consent, much to Bell's disgust.

Ordinarily, the old border sheriff would have fainted at the suggestion of making a speech. But he made one this time. He stepped out on the platform, and this is what he said:

"If you did that out in the wild and wooly West, where I came from, you would be hanging to a tree before the train-builed out."

It was pronounced the greatest speech of the campaign. "Teddy" was not interrupted again that trip.

A two-story, seven-room cottage at No. 318 Burlington avenue, owned by Mrs. Edward Lownes and occupied by W. R. Thomas and family, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning, together with part of the furniture entalling a loss of about $4000 which falls entirely upon Mrs. Lownes who rented the house furnished, to Mr. Thomas who is a well-known oil man.

When Mr. Thomas rose about 6 o'clock yesterday morning, he discovered smoke and flames underneath the house at the point where telephone wires entered the building. He played the lawn hose on the fire until he thought it was extinguished, after which he ate his breakfast and started for his office. On his way up town he notified the telephone company about the fire, and requested that the wires be immediately looked after. A lineman was dispatched at once to make an investigation, and when he reached the house about 9 o'clook, he found it in flames.

man was dispatched at once to make an investigation, and when he reached the house about 9 o'clock, he found it in flames.

The family of Mr. Thomas barely had time to escape, and with the assistance of neighbors to remove most of the furniture from the lower floor. The fire department was not notified in time to be of any material assistance. The flames made such progress that there was little for the firemen to do after they arrived, excapt to guard against the spreading of the fire to neighboring property.

The origin of the fire is accounted for on the theory of crossed electric wires, it being inferred that Mr. Thomas did not sacceed in extinguishing it entirely when he played the hose on it. It is supposed that some sparks had gotten between the weather boarding where they smouldered until they burst into flames which found their way rapidly to the attic which seemed to be the shief seat of the fire when it was for the second time discovered.

Mrs. Lownes carried some insurance, but the amount could not be ascertained yesterday, as she took the policies with her when she changed her residence to Penneyivania a few months ago. Mrs. Lownes is the widow of the late Edward Lownes, a well-known, civil engineer who died in this city last June. He was formerly a deputy in the office of the City Engineer, and was chief engineer of the Ojal Valley Railway during its construction, and the engineer of the water works at Fingstaff, Aris. Mrs. Lownes and child are at present living with relatives at Morton, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia. She was notified of her loss yesterday by her brother-in-law, C. W. Harding, who is agent for the property. Mr. Harding transmitted to her only a few weeks ago a flattering offer for the property, but she declined to accept it, on the ground that she could not bear to part with the home that hapbness. She intended to return to Los Angeles to reoccupy her home.

about other qualifications. In North Carolina, for example, a white man whose grandfather could vote is not deprived of the suffrage, although he may not know the alphabet. "The grandfather clause" is a fine educational qualification, truly!

Mr. Bryan said nothing, either, urging compliance with the constitutional requirement that States which disfranchise citizens shall suffer a proportionate loss in Congressional representation. Sometimes it is convenient for Democratic orators to forget provisions of the United States Constitution.— [Pittsburgh Dispatch.]

BRYAN UTTERLY INSINCERE.

BRYAN UTTERLY INSINCERE.

Senator Hoar doubtless expressed, with admirable directness and lucidity, the exact truth when he said last week that "Mr. Bryan does not mean business in this matter of imperialism, and he does mean business in the matter of the free coinage of silver and the attack upon the courts." The whole story of Mr. Bryan's career as a Presidential candidate confirms this view with convincing force. There is not a note of earnetness in the hollow mouthings about militarism and imperialism and trusts, unless it be in what ex-Postabout militarism and imperialism and trusts, unless it be in what ex-Postmaster-General Dickinson well calls "the gospel of hate." The whole thing is evidently and palpably a trick, a pretense, trumped up at the eleventh hour to mask, it possible, Mr. Bryan's real designs and to make the people forget, amid this wild and empty clamor, the pernicious doctrines for which Mr. Bryan stands and the disastrous policy to which he is committed and which he is piedged to execute. Mr. Bryan did not make the introduction of an "anti-imperialist" plank into the Kansas City platform a for its acts in Porto Rico before you complair. of North Carolina."

And now for the facts in the case. The Porto Rican bill adopted by the last session of Congress provided for the election of a Porto Rico legislature, which is endowed with the power of fixing the qualifications required of Porto Ricon voters, and of adopting all other laws in control and regulation of the elections. Pending the adoption of laws by this legislature, the Congressional act makes the following provision with respect to the franchise:

"At such elections all citizens of Porto Rico shall be allowed to vote who have been bona fide residents for one year, and who possess the other qualifications of voters under the laws and military orders in force on March 1, 1900. This provision shall govern until the legislative assembly shall otherwise provide."

It makes no difference what temporary orders the military government may have issued with respect to the franchise, the main fact is that the permanent voting system of the Porto Rico people is yet to be fixed by a legislature of their own choosing, and the Republican party in Congress is entitled to oredit for thus putting to the front the imperishable principle of local self-government.—[Kansas City Journal.

CHARLES H. SCHWEIZER. La Crosse, Wis., formerly chairman of the Democratic City Committee and City Attorney: "I have never been and am not now in accord with Mr. Bryan and his platform. Being convinced that Mr. Bryan's election would result in disarter to the country at large, presently or uitimately I must refuse to aid or lead comfort in any way to doctrines which are so pregnant with evils. Nor can I find in the issue of imperialism ary real excuss for supporting Mr. Bryan and impliedly indorsing his financial and Populistic hereals, an issue raised to distract the attention of the voter, and especially Gold Democrats from these fallacies the dangers of which were so thoroughly exposed in the last election. The best interests of the country demand at this time the defeat of Mr. Bryan and his principles. I feel, therefore, that it is my duty to exert what little influence I may command in opposing his election, and to cast my vote as my convictions distate, for McKiniey and Rooseveit."

BRYAN ON FOREIGNERS.

M. R. BRYAN is still pursuing "the foreign-born voters," who defeated the Democratic ticket in 1898, because, in his own words, "the foreigners could not understand the issues. They did not know much about the silver question, and we could not get literature out to them." Yet "the foreign-born voters" proved by their votes that they knew a good deal more "about the silver question" than Bryan does. In his speech at Huntington, W. Ya., last Monday, Mr. Bryan appealed to the people "not to further complicate the race question of this country by adding any more allen people to our population." Mr. Bryan will discover next month that "the foreign-born voters" are too well informed to vote for the rule of Bryanarchy and the ruln of the labor and business of all the industrious people of the United States. The American "foreign-born voters" are good citizens.—[Iowa State Register.

they try to use the laboring man to overcome the farmer and make him defenseless.

"I feel that in this State, where our candidate for Governor is so ably presenting the principles involved in this campaign, and so convincingly presenting the paramount issue of the money question, it is scarcely necessary that any one else chall say a word, because of all those who are today so ably defending the money of the Constitution there are none who are doing it more ably or with more emphasis than John P. Altgeld.

"I am glad to know that you are all a single unit on your electoral ticket and nearly all your Congressional and legislative tickets, and I am glad you are united on your State ticket also, and that you are going to elect Altgeld Govereor of the State."

And beat Altgeld by 113,317 votes.

Many Democrats are supporting Mr. Many Democrats are supporting Mr. Mr. Minley purely because of the financial question and in spite of the attitude of the Republican party concerning the Philippines, but Mr. Dickinson does not give the Bryanites the satisfaction of thinking he is against them merely because of silver, and encouraging them to keep the money issue in the background in the hope of holding other gold men with talk of imperialism and trusts. On reading Mr. Dickinson's letter Mr. Bryan must realise that his recent speeches have hurt rather than helped him with intelligent men. He may hope by appeals to envy and hatte to gather in the votes of the envious and hatting, but the great body, of the people do not belong to that class and see what Mr. Dickinson see in the Bryanite campaign, "the always dangerous appeal to the evil in human an ature." THEY FEEL THE PUBLIC PULSE.

THERE has been much talk about the alleged hostility of traveling salesmen, or "drummers," to the Republican view of the Constitution with the same arguments that the Tribune has frequently employed:

"This talk about despotism and despote and airs of eastern potentiates," the exercise of 'royal powers, 'governing without the consent of the governed, 'King George the Third and the like is not at all new in respect of the government of unorganised territories of the United States. All these powers of business men. On the face of it the thing is abourd, and that it is absurd in the testimony of the traveling salesman for this city

R. LAWRENCE, who is president of the Lawrence Shot and Lead Company at Omaha, began voting the Democratic ticket when McClellan ran against Lincoln in 1844, and continued on that line until 1896, when he declined to vote for Bryan, and was so well satisfied with the result that he will not vote for him in 1990. He says that as a business man of common sense he cannot consent to the introduction of a debased currency. Had it not been for the hard times preceding the last Presidential election, the free-silver proposition would not have received one-third of the support it did at the polls. The people were then despondent and eager to grasp at anything presented to them as a panaece.

Mr. Martin, who had just returned from an eastern trip, was asked:

"Is there any reason way sound-money Democrats who did not support Bryan in 1896 should favor him this year?"

"In the present political situation," he replied, "I am unable to discover any good reason why a Democrat favoring a stable currency, who refused to support Bryan in 1896, should support him now. His prophecies and predictions as a candidate in 1896 are unfulfilled, and the disasters which he announced as sure to follow the election of Mr. McKinley have failed to materialise."

"What do you think of the Kansas City platform as compared with the Chicago platform?"

"The platform of 1900, it seems to me, is in no wise bester than that of 1896, and in some instances is worse. I regard the continued agitation of the 16-to 1-fallacy as detrimental to the best interests of the country and the attempt to make an issue of imperialism is entirely abortive.

A Zealous Convert.

The Pittsburgh Tribune notes that a Democrat of the neighborhood who has become converted to the cause of McKinley recently discharged his own brother from a job in his coal mine because the brother wouldn't stop talking for Bryan. And then the Tribune permits its indignation to blind its judgment to the fact that it takes some little time for a convert of this sort to shed all'of his Democratic habits and proclivities.—[Kansas City Journal.]

FINANCING COTTON. The New York bank statement shows a loss of $10,000,000 in loans, and $15,000,000 in deposits for the week. This ilquidation would seem to be largely due to the cashing abroad of cotton bills, which have already been discounted for domestic sellers. It is estimated that since September 1, the otton exports of this year are greater in value by $11,000,000 than for the same period last year. The currency movement to the interior appears to be diminishing.
About $9,000,000 gold has been engaged from Australia at San Francisco. With respect to the current imports of gold, the London Statist says: "That the Amerian bankers are most unwilling to disturb the market, and that they will not take gold from the Bank of England, we firmly believe. But their ability to refrain depends on the extent of the demands on them for cash for the interior. With the cotton crop yet to be moved, the bankers may be obliged to withdraw a portion of their balances from London."

RIVALS RUBBER. The rubber shield sas grown to be such a necessity the world over, that it is interesting to tote that it is to have the same sort of rival that the mackintosh has in he cravenette garment. A recent process which an American manufacturer has perfected, is made to render sitter silk or cotton absolutely water-roof, says an eastern trade paper, and hat without in any way injuring or litering the integrity of appearance of the fabric. Dress shields made of silk reasted with this proofing have worked acceedingly well, and, the inventor lining, for the reason that they is porous enough to allow the air to asset through the fabric while repelling ill motsture.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

THE USE OF MACARONI: The Deariment of Agriculture is securing ood stocks of the best European and frican macaroni wheats and Hunarian wheat breads, which it is exsected will furnish the basis for a reat extension of the macaroni manucturing industry in the United States.

Macaroni, says the Journal, is one the most picturesque and interestgwords in the language. Its original ym was the Latin word "macero," seaming "I soften." Later, through maccare," to bruise, it became in Old alian macaroni, something beaten and street.

ed, day, in our language, it stands for femiliar Italian paste made into der tubes from the flour of hard, inous wheat mixed with water; for edley, or something extravagant fanciful; for a fool or a buffoon; the crested penguin, and for an extra cor top. In our revolutions y at it stood for a member of a shew-uniformed body of Maryland pa-ta.

the common meaning of macaroni, the common meaning of macaroni, here and in England is the tubulood for which the Department of culture purposes to secure wheat, aroni is one of the most wholesome mourishing of foods. Well cooked properly served, that is, with a is sauce and good grated cheese, tishes at once the appetite of the lest laborer and one of the most cular epicurean. We have seen ricans treat macaroni, as some baked beans, spraying it with and pepper and even winegar, would make an Italian revolt. If sauce be well made, macaroni a nothing more than that and a spoonfuls of cheese to secure the set palatableness.

A taste for macaroni should be easily sequired. Baked simply in the American style or served as the serve it a Rome or in Naples, it spurs on hrift and shuts out the nocturnal horors proverbially indigenous to the merican "pie belt."

Apples are plentiful, in active demand at firm prices. Bananas are in good demand; prices are steady. Cranber-ries are firm. Poultry is in good demand for fancy stock, large and fat. Small turkeys-are dull. Game is in somewhat bet-ter demand. Barley hay is very firm.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY. corrections: In this department yesterday appeared an article on inaccurate reports on oranges from a New York paper. By a typographical mistaks 1300 cars of oranges were made to figure out 216,600 boxes. The figures of lethargy. The resulting tendency to aga developed very gradually until near the close, when the professional sear took courage and offered prices down. The experiment proved that the season of all citrus fruits of 17,822 carloads of ismons, making a total for the season of all citrus fruits of 17,822 carloads.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

Provisions are unchanged from yesterday's figures. The general one of the market is easy.

There is very little doing in dried fruits of any kind. There must come some demand for fine raisins for holiday trade before long. Raisins will be scarce, the best quality very scarce. The market is firm.

Walnuts are turning out a lighter crop than had been anticipated. It is estimated that they will fall off 25: to 29 per cent. In most districts. Should it be so the total crop will not reach 400 carsoads. The market is in a satisfactory condition.

Flour is very firm at full quotations.

Hidee and tallow are dull.

"Capper" for Dr. Going, Arrested Yesterday for Bunco-steering.

"Dr." John Hammond, sometimes known as "Arkansas," was arrested yesterday on a charge of bunco steering, by esterday on a charge of bunco steering, by Deputy Constable Botello, who claims that the man is a deserter from the United States acmy.

It is alleged that Hammond has been acting as a "capper" for Dr. J. W. Going, and representing himself as a retired physician. He was himself fooled by a romance manufactured by Botello, a master effort with which he must now be transfixed with wonder and admiration.

Botello first saw him in the Hollenbeck Hotel, and believing that he recognized him as the deserter, desired a better acquaintance. Botello first saw him is the Hollenbeck Hotel, and believing that he recognized him as the deserter, desired a better acquaintance. Botello frighted some reluctance at first, but after two or three meetings, allowed himself to be taken to Dr. Going.

He told them that his own name was backness, and through by disease. He urged him to go to a doctor of his acquaintance. Botello frighted some reluctance at first, but after two or three meetings, allowed himself to be taken to Dr. Going.

He told them that his own name was backness, and that his people had spent thousands of dollars trying to cure him.

Dr. Going made an examination and found him to be in a really frightful physical condition. He offered to effect a complete cure, however, in three months, for $125. "Ramires" thought this a very reasonable sum.

He sat down in the doctor's office, and wrote a letter to his "father," the sat down in the doctor's office, and wrote a letter to his "father," the "general," asking him for money, and stating his intention to make Dr. Go-

Closing Democratic Rally of the Campaign Turns Out

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 31.—[Regular Correspondence.] The final campaign rally of the county Democracy at Loring Operahouse tonight made scores of votes for McKinley. The preparations were poorly planned and the meeting was altogether a frost. While the band played on the streets, Republicans and Democrats filed in, comfortably filling the operahouse to hear what Hon. Stephen M. White had to say on the issues of the campaign. White was the drawing eard. If he had not been advertised to appear there would be no telling what might have happened. It was bad enough as it was.

and not been advertised to appear there would be no telling what might have happened. It was bad enough as it was.

Long before the meeting opened two score of vice-presidents sat upon the stage, waiting for something to turn up. Bubsequently ex-Senator White, piloted by L. Gill, and followed by a bevy of vice-presidents of the first class, filed in and occupied the first row of seats on the stage.

There was a little ripple of applause. Then for ten minutes the audience glared at the people on the stage and the stage people glared back. No one occupied the big chair in the center of the stage. The chairman was missing.

J. F. Crowe, candidate for Superior Judge on the Democratic ticket, made a lively run for the foyer and returned with the band in tow. The audience stood while the band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

C. W. Barton, chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, introduced D. E. Meyers of Libreno, who talked too long. The only time Meyers got the audience going was when he referred to ex-Senator White as having done more for Southern California than any man in the State.

It was nearly 9 c'elock when Mr. White was given an opportunity to speak. Confining himself to a forty-five-minute speech directed almost wholly against the alleged imperialistic policy of the Republican party.

The speaker conceded that intelligence exists in the ranks of the Republican party and integrity of the President, he asserted that a continuance of McKinley as the head of the Republican party is fraught with danger to the American republic.

It was argued that the accession of the Philippines means a continent of cheap labor for this country. The Filipinos and their surrounidings would republic.

It was argued that the accession of the Philippines means a continent of cheap labor for this country. The Filipinos and their surroundings would never assimilate with Americans and their surroundings, he said, and the belief was expressed that the United States Supreme Court will never asnetion a law that does not provide equal blessings for all its subjects. Hanna was referred to as "Marsus Aurelius," whereat a few laughed.

The speaker would not assert that Hanna has any proprietorship over McKinley, but alleged that the President listens with a good deal of attention to Hanna's so-called arguments. The alleged policy of imperialism was opposed chiefly on the ground that it may result in an immense influx of foreign labor.

It has been the burning decire of Riverside people to hear Orichton of Pressno, Democratic nominee for Congress, speak. He was billed to appear tonight, but did not show up. Senator White briefly expressed his opinion that Crichton is a man of ability and integrity and favorable to the protec-

Sceling "Suckers."

The artists who work the "green coods game" have been sending their irrulars into this virtuous city. One of the usual forms of the letter used in the business has been placed in the lands of the police detectives, but the old dodge is so carefully worked that there is little hope of apprehending the bunco man. So long as guilible persons invest in the seductive scheme, that long will the game be worked.

West Vernon Methers.

A tramp arrested at Pomona last night had moderbized the "profession" and was riding a bicycle. The wheel was almost new, but he offered to sell it for $2.50, and excited the suspicions of Constable Slacker, who placed him under arrest and telephoned an inquiry to the local Police Station giving the number of the bicycle. The tramp's steed was identified as the one stolen on Tuesday evening from the premises of M. S. Thomas of No. 105% West Third street. The thief will be brought to Los Angeles today.

Smuggled Mules.

In the United States District Court

Harry H. Dunn, the young newspaper writer who was reported missing to the police on Tuesday night, showed up yesterday and assured his worried friends that he had no intention of friends that he had no intention of making away with himself. Mr. Dunn states that he had gone to an out-of-the-way place in Orange county for a few days' rest and neglected to make his departure generally known. The young man's father at Fullerton says there has been no trouble between his son and himself, and that the young man is always welcome at home.

Street Car Accident.

A Pasadena electric car tearing down Macy street yesterday afternoon about 6:15 o'clock ran into a dairy wagon driven by G. Delfauti, instantly killing the horse attached to the rig, smashing the wagon and badly maiming the driver. Delfauti drives for the Nadeau dairy, and was going about his route when he met with the accident. He claims that the car was going at an illegal rate of speed and that no gong was rung or other warning given. The man was thrown violently to the ground, falling on his right side, breaking one rib, fracturing his right forearm, and outting a gash two inches long on the side of his head. He was repaired at the Receiving Hospital and sent to his room in the Roma Hotel on North Main street. Street Car Accident.

Record-Breaking Sale of Rich Silks.

Thousands of silk lovers have bought silk since the opening of this sale Monday morning. Thousands more have yet to buy. There is plenty for all. Tuesday morning we received another big invoice of these silks, which was a little slow in getting here. You will find the details below, together with some of the best bargains left from the first of the sale. The lines are still complete, and you will find the bargains even better than those with which we started this important sale of silks. Every woman in America who is familiar with silks knows that James McCreery & Co. of New York are the greatest importers and wholesalers of this class of merchandise. These goods are mostly from his stock and were made by the Clifton Silk Mills. They were sold at auction under McCreery's orders, and the prices average half.
